

Coaching Proposal for The Curb Firm

Digital marketing is important for branding, exposure, and generating revenue. It also serves as a fantastic tool to highlight products/services, employees, special skills, and allows you to connect to an audience in a uniquely personal way.

Thank you for allowing me to submit a proposal to help you with your business.

Project Scope Professional Marketing/Communications/Support

Jason will collaborate with Curb Firm to develop marketing plans/strategies for growth, maximize opportunities, develop consistent content strategies including digital marketing strategies, and sales funnels. Here are some topics and targets.

- Calendar development to focus efforts, save time, and make sure the important weekly promotional topics are never missed.
- Campaign development - work to develop effective and creative social/digital campaigns.
- Utilize current best practices for engagement, click-throughs, open rates, and test content for resonance.
- Teach how to track/report engagement numbers.
- Stay on top of trends for social engagement and platforms and suggest changes as necessary.
- Monthly reporting - highlight what is working/not and why.
- Suggest best use of video for promotions, campaigns, events (free vs. paid + live vs. edited).
- Recommend regular update and engagement strategies for different audiences.
- Coach on effective back end strategy (such as email list building) so advertising dollars are maximized and 'future-proofing' when possible.
- Advise on content marketing like 'top of the funnel' segments/videos/posting to support the business and future business endeavors.
- Advise on Email Marketing Program: Headlines, design guidance, analytics & expectations.
- Access to the 100 Cups network.

Fees and Schedule for Services:

100 Cups Consulting agrees to perform the services described above:

- Professional Digital Marketing/Social Media Direction/Monthly Support:
- $450 per month - we do not have long term contracts, but ask for a 30 day notice if either party decides at any time to move on.
- We invoice once per month (due upon receipt through credit card or check).

Conclusion:

After multiple iterations of helping organizations, 100 Cups Consulting has developed long term client relationships based on the belief that small business marketing is best executed from the inside of an organization.

As a society we are seeking authenticity. With the availability of current technology and social media we have a great opportunity to connect with our audience in truly authentic ways.

This coaching/teaching philosophy is a bit different from the surge of new digital marketing agencies... We focus on a teaching and empowering a company vs. simply selling a marketing service... If we can equip you to develop better, authentic relationships with your audience long term, we believe together, we can make the longest lasting impact.

This method is less costly and provides better value.

We want to equip the Curb Firm with the ability to develop rich, real story based content that connects.

What Others Are Saying

What can I say about Jason and 100 Cups? They have taken what little we knew about Social Media (some of it incorrect) and helped us learn, expand, and grow our followers, page likes, organic interaction, and more faster and more effectively than we ever could on our own. But more than just practical advice and tips, his encouragement and accountability to help us do the best we can with these tools is what sets him apart. He genuinely cares for his clients and wants to see them succeed. He celebrates wins with us and continually helps us strive for more and more. There isn't anything else we could want more.

The Gallatin Area Chamber of Commerce has had the pleasure of working with Jason on several occasions and in a variety of capacities. He has been a resource for our 500+ members through our luncheon series in which he delivered informative and valuable information related to social media management, marketing, and creative content development. Additionally, he has been an outstanding resource to my staff and I, always only a phone call away to bounce ideas. Over the years, I have witnessed him take the brand identities of several of my Chamber members to the next level, both online and off. Above all else, he is a connector. He has the ability to connect individuals of all kinds through conversation, creativity, and engagement.

Before Jason came along we had so much on our plate and felt like we were just trying to survive when it came to social media. Jason gave us direction, helped us prioritize, get a strategy together and showed us some really valuable tricks and tips that ultimately has helped us engage our audience in ways that we never thought we could. Some of our posts have had so much engagement they've been seen by over a million people! The growth we've seen on all of our platforms since working with Jason has been unbelievable.
